

CT Homeowners Can Call State Association For Help with Propane Supply

As many Connecticut consumers are using more propane while running generators and trying to keep warm due to the recent storm, several propane companies are also without power and are experiencing only intermittent phone service. This is leaving many propane consumers concerned about their propane supplies.

The Propane Gas Association of New England (PGANE) is working with Connecticut State Fire Marshal's office to help these home and business owners:

If you cannot reach your supplier call 888.445.1075 and PGANE will assist you in securing propane for your home or business.

The Propane Gas Association of New England serves nearly 600 members of the propane industry by promoting safety, education, and public awareness of the uses of propane.
